Editorial Policy

MC's Sustainability Report provides a review of our global business activities from the perspective of sustainable development.

Building on the 2004 Sustainability Report, the special features in this year's Sustainability Report describe MC's activities in our core businesses of natural gas, coking coal, and food products, focusing on the corporate social responsibility (CSR) aspects of these businesses. This report also details MC's new energy businesses: business activities that offer effective responses to climate change and help build sustainable communities.

The report was compiled to facilitate an understanding, both within the company and among our stakeholders, of the MC Group companies' performance of their social and environmental responsibilities. MC has developed businesses throughout the world and under a variety of different conditions. In this report, we have attempted to provide a quantitative and qualitative analysis of the impact these businesses have on society and the global environment.

In working toward sustainable development, it is important that a global outlook inform all our business activities. For this reason, we have increased the number of pages that deal with our CSR activities outside Japan, and reported on stakeholder dialogues held in Europe and the U.S. this year.
